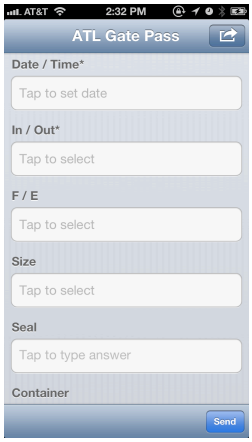
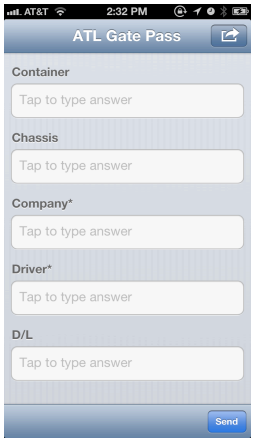
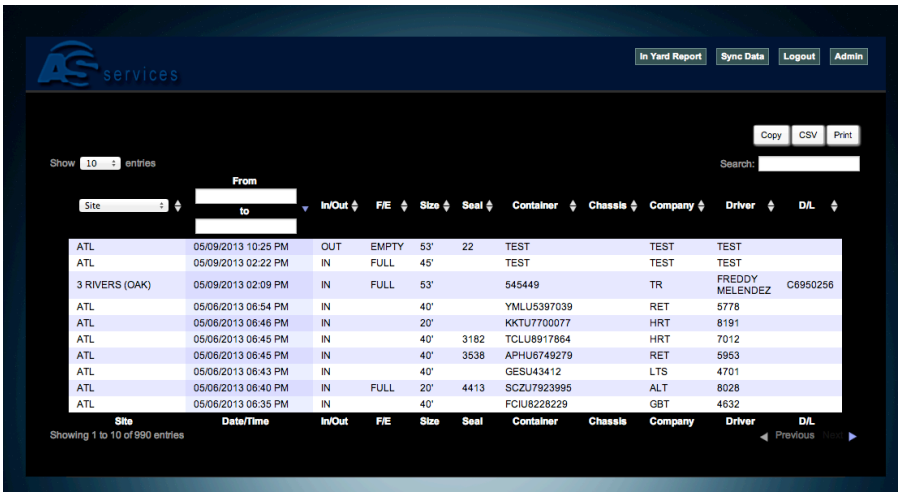
Admiral Security Services, Inc. has developed software that tracks yard and gate activity. You can now use an electronic gate pass for any container entering the yard and submit to an online database. That online database can be accessed and searched in real time live 24/7. This system is called ASTS (Admiral Security trucking System)

The system utilizes the latest technology with software and hardware. Security Officer at the gate uses a handheld tablet to capture the "Gate Pass", the tablet is water proof and durable according to military standards. The information is then received on a simple form that is easy to use and fast enough to process. The transaction has some data validation to make sure the data entered per field is the correct data. For example make sure a container number does not have more 16 alphanumeric characters… simple validations help correct human errors on data entry. Once a quick "Gate Pass" is processed it is sent live to a database that store all this information. This information is then accessed via an online interface via a web link and credentials with a username and password. Once logged in from any computer using any browser, the customer or client can now search any of the data with any information they have… for example: As they type in "TRUL" the program displays all containers with starting with "TRUL"… another option is search by date rages for containers that have a seal… basically any single or a combination of fields can be searched, then your data can be sorted or filtered. All this is easily done live on the online interface once you log in on the home page.





Some reports can be generated such as a yard inventory report, this will generate a report up the last transaction done live with all the containers that have gated in but have not gated out. The Security Officer can then take the print out and reconfirm the containers as a reconciliation process of what is inside the yard live. Updates and fixes can be done easily on the fly, with administrative access you can click on the result, edit then hit enter and it will be saved back to the database and updated. The information is stored and kept online for 3 years. The data collected is confidential to the customer and their clients. You can also have usernames that can only access a specific trucking company containers only in that specific yard. So that as a client of Admiral Security Services, Inc. you can give your customers access where they see only their activity.



A newly added extension of the system is the reefer checks; the security officer patrols the yard constantly recording the reefer temperature. This monitors reefer activity 24/7 and records it.
